Separation Order

If you are in a phase where you and your partner are contemplating filing for a divorce, it is highly advised to have a professional Separation Agreement between you both. In a later stage, this will help you avoid misunderstandings about what you both have agreed on and prevent undetermined legal intricacies. The agreement states when your relationship has ended and what responsibilities each of you holds, which may include care for children, pets, mortgage payments, property division, and so on. This agreement will help you prove that you have been separated for 2 years or more which is significant for divorce proceedings in court. You can also formalize your agreement through court and make it a Separation Order.

At this delicate stage when you are experiencing emotional turmoil, we save you from running around courts and solicitors. We have provided an easy questionnaire for you to answer and our experienced team will complete all the forms mandated for Separation Agreement.

Hire us and make this break-up phase a smooth journey to move on.

Saved lots of bucks! You're paying for a service, the same as you would for solicitors but at a much higher rate with a solicitor. Thanks to the Divorcenz team. I saved my money by not paying high attorney fees.

S. G. Liagourdis

Easy as everything went well with no issues at all. I correctly filled all the questions given in the application and that's it! They did the rest of the work for me. It is also fairly priced.. would recommend to anyone
